

Join us for a Book Study of
Waking Up White, and Finding Myself in the Story of Race

Thursdays, January 11, 18, 25 and February 1, 8, 15, 22
4:30 to 6:00 p.m.
in the High Meadows School Library

“Waking Up White is the book I wish someone had handed me decades ago. My hope is that by sharing my sometimes cringe-worthy struggle to understand racism and racial tensions, I offer a fresh perspective on bias, stereotypes, manners, and tolerance. As I unpack my own long-held beliefs about colorblindness, being a good person, and wanting to help people of color, I reveal how each of these well-intentioned mindsets actually perpetuated my ill-conceived ideas about race. I also explain why and how I’ve changed the way I talk about racism, work in racially mixed groups, and understand the racial justice movement as a whole.”

Debby Irving, Racial Justice Educator and Writer

The Center’s desire is to create a safe space for enlightened dialogue about issues of race, privilege, prejudice, and identity development. Ms. Irving’s book chronicles her personal journey toward understanding and our reading and discussion will likely take you on your own personal journey as well. Let’s travel together.
