

Primary Colors of a Leader

High school and college-aged students are invited to join us for a free leadership workshop with speaker & writer
Andrew McPeak

Saturday, May 12 from 1:00 to 4:00 p.m.
High Meadows School Community Center

Looking for new experiences? Interested in making new connections? Want to know what makes for a healthy, effective leader? Gather with other young people to collaboratively explore the complex subject of leadership. Have fun while recognizing your own abilities and gaining valuable new skills! Learn about the four fundamentals that everyone and anyone can develop in their lives: character, perspective, courage and favor.

Andrew is a millennial speaker and content developer with Growing Leaders. In his role as Program Excellence Manager, he works closely with schools, universities, companies and sports teams on implementing Habitudes as a tool to teach life and leadership skills. Primary Colors of a Leader is a globally recognized formula for leadership.

“It’s important that we reveal both the new realities that are emerging in culture, as well as the timeless principles that have existed for centuries.” From Marching Off the Map
